About Final Project

The capstone project course is the culmination of the MSA program and demonstrates a student's mastery of the curriculum and a firm understanding of the fundamental principles that guide the diverse field of sports administration. Students may choose this course to fulfill their capstone requirement. Students may also choose to complete a thesis. The final thesis project should be viewed as an opportunity to engage in a sustained independent study on a sports administration topic that draws on and integrates a number of different perspectives that students have been introduced to in various MSA courses. The project must consist of original intellectual analysis (but need not consist of primary research from the student) that addresses a contemporary sports administration problem defined and developed in concert with an extensive literature search. The thesis project can begin from a question arising in a student's work setting that could be appropriately addressed by material learned in the program.

Pre-requisite: Students may take one other course simultaneously with MSA 498-DL Capstone . All other course requirements must have been completed before the commencement of this course.
