Graduation Ceremonies

Northwestern University hosts a number of graduation ceremonies each spring. All degree-seeking students are invited to participate in the in the SPS school Convocation ceremony and the University-wide commencement ceremony. Additionally, each school holds its own convocation ceremony, where graduates are recognized by name by the dean of the school or academic leadership for their program. Staff and faculty, fellow students, friends and family have the opportunity to join in the celebration. A student may participate in more than one ceremony, so he or she should make sure to RSVP for each ceremony individually. Refer to the SPS Convocation site (<https://sps.northwestern.edu/student-services/convocation.php>) for more information.

Here are the things to remember about the graduation ceremonies:

- Graduation ceremonies are held only once a year, in June, for all degree completion dates.
