

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

The Graduate School enhances Northwestern University's academic excellence and reputation by providing centralized support to current and prospective graduate students, postdoctoral trainees, graduate faculty, staff, administrators, and alumni. Our mission is to advocate for excellent graduate and advanced educational opportunities; cultivate a healthy, inclusive, and equitable experience; and connect graduate students and postdoctoral trainees with supportive communities and engagement opportunities.

For more information on our academic programs and services, visit The Graduate School website (<https://www.tgs.northwestern.edu/>).